THE COLUMBIA WINS.

The American Yacht Wins Three Straight Races and the Cup Stays at Home.

After one of the most exciting struggles in the history of yacht racing, the American boat Columbia has come off victorious over her British competitor, Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock II. Americans will of course feel gratified at the result of the races. Still there is many a man loyal to the stars and stripes who would not have grieved to see Sir Thomas take the cup away to England. America has held the cup for half a century against all comers and much interest would be added to the sport if she had to send a boat to British waters to bring the trophy back. Besides, Sir Thomas has impressed Americans so favorably that they would by no means grieve to see him victor.

Crown Mill will Start Monday.

The new machinery at the Crown Mill will be put into operation Monday morning. Ever since the burning of the mill on the 17th day of May the work of refitting has been pushed as rapidly as possible. There has been much delay, however, because of the failure of new machinery to arrive on schedule time. Socorro can now boast a first class flouring mill, equipped with the very latest and most improved machinery, with a capacity of 150 barrels of flour a day. The company has bought and stored 2,000,000 pounds of wheat this season, upon which operations will be begun at once. The company owning this valuable property is entitled to much credit for the energy displayed in repairing their loss by fire. Their efforts will doubtless receive a rich reward, in which the community will share.

Convict Attempts to Escape.

A well laid plan to escape from the territorial penitentiary at Santa Fe was brought to light Thursday and frustrated by the authorities of the institution. James Chambers, under life sentence for highway robbery in San Miguel county, was the originator of the plan. He left a chamber in a 14-foot smoke stack that he built in the prison yard a year ago. Wednesday he secreted himself therein to await a favorable opportunity to escape from the yard. He was missed at the evening count and his hiding place was discovered next day. None but "trusties" have escaped from the penitentiary since Hon. H. O. Bursum became superintendent and with very few exceptions they have been recaptured.

Important Decision.

An important decision was handed down by the territorial supreme court at a special term which adjourned Wednesday. The court ruled that the statute of limitation does not hold against a county or the territory, in other words that suit for the collection of delinquent taxes may be brought by the territory regardless of the lapse of time. This decision is sure to be of great benefit to the people of the territory and the only wonder is that it was not rendered long ago.

MRS. FREEMAN SUES THE SANTA FE

Her Old Action for $20,000 Damages Revived.

Mrs. W. J. Freeman, now that she has secured her liberty and is once more in El Paso, has refilled her suit against the Santa Fe railroad for $20,000 as compensation for personal injuries received while she was the company's agent at La Tuna, New Mexico. The filing of the original suit about a year ago marked the beginning of Mrs. Freeman's troubles. After the depot at La Tuna had been destroyed by fire she came to this city for treatment, refusing to go to the railroad hospital at San Marcial. A short time later she filed suit against the company for injuries received during the fire.

A week or so later she was arrested on various and sundry charges and placed in jail.

The public is well acquainted with the history of these criminal proceedings and it needs no repetition here. She was out on bond with the general understanding that she would never be tried in Texas, owing to a lack of evidence, when she was seized in the night time by virtue of an extradition warrant and taken to Socorro county, New Mexico. She subsequently escaped, but was recaptured at Las Cruces and held there until finally released on bond, whereupon she returned to El Paso, and today filed suit against the railroad company. —El Paso Herald.

A Dilapidated Chinese.

Sam Chang, the Chinese nabob who operates the laundry on Court street, is in trouble. Sunday Sam got drunk. That was the beginning of his trouble, though it was joy unspeakable compared with what followed. While full of hurrah juice to the very brim he visited a certain locality down on the river bottom and then tried to ride a horse home. All went well with Sam until he came in forcible contact with a tree, but how things went with him for the next twenty-four hours he knows not. At that time he was found lying unconscious where he had fallen and was brought to town. Sam was brought to after the doctor had taken a few pieces of broken bone and a small quantity of loose brain from a hole in his forehead, and thus it is that Socorro now numbers among her population a sadder and, probably, a wiser Chinaman.

City Marshal under Arrest.

City Marshal Rosalio Jaramillo was brought before Police Magistrate Camilo Baca Monday and placed under bond of $4,000 to await the action of the grand jury. The charge against Marshal Jaramillo was to the effect that on Sunday, in the yard of the Catholic church, he clubbed Demetrio Olguin severely on the head without provocation. It is said that Mr. Olguin will prefer charges against the marshal before the city council at its next meeting, also that a petition of citizens will be presented asking the removal of that officer.

There have been several new buildings added to the park recently, the latest and most unique being a little Episcopal church. It is erected on the college road adjacent to the college buildings, midway to the park and the Las Cruces road.

When it is understood that this has become a populated neighborhood, and that there are some 200 students at the college, and that the nearest church heretofore was Las Cruces, it will be readily seen how much the present one is needed.

The first services were conducted last Sunday by the Rev. Joseph McConnell. The little building is well finished, and though modest in its adobe dress, seems perfect in workmanship and design. It was well filled by an appreciative audience.

The people of Mesilla Park and vicinity are to be congratulated in being able to open, free from debt, such a pretty and home-like little church. —Rio Grande Republican.
